

Organic mashed potatoes made by Engel Food Solutions

NEW

The desire for a healthier diet is getting more important everyday and should therefore be stronger supported by the food industry. A number of European governments through legal decisions and recommendations have already determined which part of the menus presented in institutional food service shall be of ecological origin in the near future.

Depending on the country this part varies between 20 and 40%.

For a long time it has been our goal to offer our customers ever healthier recipes to comply with these requirements. This is the reason why we have been offering the "100% Natur" range of products consisting of 100% natural flakes, containing numerous vegetables- and potato purees. All are "clean label" products and are processed without additives. Today we even make one further step ahead into the direction of Naturalness respectively Purity and have the pleasure to now present you our Organic products:

- Organic Flakes, natural
- Organic Complete mashed Potato with milk with or without salt added
- Organic Cook & Chill mashed potato
- Organic Potato cuts: slices, dices, strips in different sizes.

Worth mentioning is that our Organic Potato Flakes have a high yield as stated here below :

- 1kg organic flakes yields 8kg puree prepared with water
- 1kg flakes with milk yields 7 kg puree prepared with water

All our organic products contain only potatoes and ingredients which are tested thoughtfully and carefully and originate from German controlled ecological agriculture. The strict selecting criteria and constant control of our suppliers' of our total product portfolio guarantee that all products you receive comply with Engel's usual quality.

Organical mashed potatoes

Manufacturing processes in our site as well as foregoing any kind of flavour, preserving- and colouring agents, make our Organic Purees acquire the status of Premium Products.

We do not only comply with standards required by the industry and trade, but even surpass these and setting quality standards with each innovation.

Our products are offered in packaging sizes for retail, food service and the industry from 45g till 20kg while remaining open for special requests.

The innovation awards received at the three most important food exhibitions ANUGA, GULFOOD and World of Private Label confirm moreover that we use our professional know-how and high quality standards for you in the right way to develop products that move the markets. Should you also discover our new possibilities and wish to present these to your customers, simply contact us. We would be pleased to sending samples and make you become convinced.

With kind regards,

Your Engel team